“Do Unto Others ...”

Usually spoken in that unique tone which only moms can achieve ... you know, like, “You just wait ’til your father gets home” or, “Eat your spinach, young man. There are little children in Africa going to bed hungry tonight.”

Doing good is a universal concept. Consider the following from various sources.

“Do Unto Others” – The Golden Standard (Rule) is older than you think – its first reference,

- 4,000 BCE, ancient Egypt: “Do for one who may do for you, that you may cause him thus to do;”
- 3,000 BCE, in an ancient Sanskrit book, Mahabharata: “Do not to others what you would not wish done to yourself;”
- 700 BCE, Taoism: “Regard your neighbor’s gain as your own gain, and your neighbor’s loss as your own loss;”
- 600 BCE, Confucianism: “Never impose on others what you would not choose for yourself;”
- 500 BCE, ancient Buddhism: “Hurt not others in ways that you yourself would find hurtful” (Udanavarga 5:18);
- from the Sophists of ancient Greece: “Avoid doing what you would blame others for doing;”
- an ancient African proverb, of unknown dating: “If you cannot add to the man you meet, do not subtract from him;”
- from Mayan civilizations: “I am another you, and you are another me;”
- Sextus, the Pythagorean, 3rd century BCE: “What you do not want to happen to you, do not do it yourself either;”

- 1st century BCE, Rabbi Hillel: “What is hateful to you, do not do to your fellow; this is the whole TORAH; the rest is commentary;”

- 1st century BCE, the Tamil tradition of Southern India: “Do not do to others what you know has hurt yourself;”

- Rome, 1st century CE, Seneca the Younger: “Treat your inferior as you would wish your superior to treat you;”

“Do Unto Others ...” ...,cont.

- Yahshua the Messiah, 1st century CE: “Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the TORAH and the Prophets,” (Matthew 7:12);
- 7th century, CE, Mohammed: “That which you want for yourself, seek for mankind.”

1st Scriptural New Moon

We are alerting everyone that the new moon we have designated for the 19th, for our North American Region might actually appear on the evening of the 20th. This will push Passover and Days of Unleavened Bread out by one day, but will not affect any of the other Appointed Times. We are sharing this in advance for those planning travel, time off, etc. We are expecting, with confidence, Abib to be confirmed prior to this coming new moon. For more information on Biblical Calendars, see the “Calendar” section at NewMoonReport.org online.

Removing the Leavening

The following list of foods containing these ingredients should neither be consumed, nor stored, during that time. Not all are Scriptural leavening agents, but do “puff up.” Leaven (Yeast); Sodium Bicarbonate; Potassium Bicarbonate; Baking Soda; Baking Powder.

Such things as unleavened crackers are perfect to use for Passover and Days of Unleavened Bread. It should be mentioned that many vitamin products have yeast, so be sure to check the labels. Now is the time to prepare, so as not to have a lot of products to throw out.

Question & Answer

Q: My eyes were opened more after reading an article of your YAIY Beacon Jan.-Mar. 2026 Edition! On page 13 the article titled, “Yahweh’s Kingdom is Coming.” I have some comments I hope you can clear up my evidently unclear understanding. It has always been my understanding that if a human gets resurrected to become immortal just like all angels, that means you live forever and cannot die or be destroyed. But on page 19, the top left paragraph reads, “Here we see Yahweh’s judgement on Satan. He will be burnt up and reduced to ashes, never to exist anymore. Question: If Satan is a spirit being, how can a spirit being without flesh and blood get burnt up and be reduced to ashes? If Satan can be destroyed, never to exist again as immortal, that tells me that all angels and future humans that are resurrected to immortality can also, if it is Elohim’s will, be burnt up and reduced to ashes.

So being immortal might not be forever without end? I hope you can clear up this matter. Since Almighty Yahweh is immortal, that means He cannot, not exist but others who are immortal, can possibly be burnt up and reduced to ashes, never to exist anymore!

A: We understand that physical language can be used to describe the spiritual. This is incorporated in the description of Yahweh Himself through vision in Scripture (Ezek. 1:22-28). However, such physical visions/descriptions of Yahweh are purposed to help mankind with his finite minds to understand some unfathomable things, such as a spirit being destroyed. How can one destroy a spirit? Really, only Yahweh can. How can it be done? We cannot describe it except by physical means. For example, the wording used in Scripture to describe Satan’s end is a physical description of his spiritual end. Romans 16:19, NASB, says, The Elohim of peace will soon crush Satan under your feet. The grace of our Master Yahshua be with you. How can spirit be crushed under our physical feet? The word “crush” is Strong’s G.4937 syntribo, a word meaning to “break in pieces,” similar to what’s read in Revelation 2:27, of an earthen vessel being “broken to pieces” (syntribo). The idea behind the description is to help us understand, in this particular example, Satan’s death. If one takes a vase and shatters it into pieces, it is destroyed. Satan’s end is destruction, an end to his existence.

On a side note, and on a scientific level, we understand that molecules can be sped up or slowed down. As they’ve described it, scientists have seen on a molecular level the smallest subatomic particles phasing in and out of nothingness. While they don’t understand what is happening, there might actually be a transition point or connection between the spiritual and the physical which they are seeing. Angels have appeared as men and then vanish into thin air afterward. Yahshua Himself, after He returned from being glorified, manifested Himself as a physical man (in His own physical body from the tomb, flesh and bone, but without blood). We bring this up to present the idea, and yes, this is conjecture on our part, but could Yahweh transition Satan to a physical being and then crush him? Just a thought. We frankly don’t know what we don’t know. We do know, however, with a spirit being there is no decay (and a spirit being cannot decay and die naturally, Luke 20:36). But annihilation of such a being may be done by a means that actually does cause ashes to be formed. All we know is that Yahweh, and now Yahshua (all authority and power have been handed to Him), have power over life and death and everything else in the known or unknown creation.

One other thing we should mention is that the idea of inherent immortality is only attributed to Yahweh alone (1 Tim. 6:16). We, of course, being mortal, desire to live forever. We look forward to, and are seeking an estate of not being subject to decay (Rom. 2:7, 6:23) ... an estate promised to those in Messiah who overcome to the end (1 Cor. 15:51-54; Rev. 2:7).

Newly Immersed

We are happy to announce newly-baptized Roy and Beverly Rogers to the body of Messiah. We were blessed with 70 degree weather this last Sabbath in February. Having come up from Oklahoma, they are looking to move to the area and be a part of the local Assembly. We are well-pleased to welcome Brother Roy and Sister Beverly to Missouri, and to the Assembly!
