HOW SHOULD WE TREAT OTHERS?

Jill and Amanda had been best friends since kindergarten. Things changed when they entered middle school. Jill began hanging around a bad crowd at the new school. Amanda was worried that she was losing her best friend. So she reached out to Jill and gently discussed what was happening. Thankfully our story has a happy ending. Jill took Amanda's kind words to heart and the friendship with Amanda was restored.

As a young believer, you will encounter many situations in life, both good and bad. How you choose to respond, will often have long term consequences. We encourage our young believers to make Yahweh their first priority. Yahweh wants us to treat others kindly. In fact, we should treat others the way we would want to be treated. Yahweh wants us to serve others, not harm them. Yahshua even said we should pray for our enemies. We even need to try to be at peace with those who treat us badly. But remember, if you are being bullied at school, please tell your parents and teachers. The adults will need to step in. Don't try to handle this yourself.

How should we treat our parents? We must honor and obey them! Honesty, compassion, helpfulness, and a willingness to serve others are other good qualities a young believer should have. Kind and gentle words also go a long way. And never go along with the crowd to do bad things. Be the example of good behavior that the world should see. Don't gossip or spread false rumors about people. Here are some bad attributes to avoid: Anger for no reason, jealousy, and using foul language. And remember Yahweh sees everything we do, so don't even think of cheating on your homework. We must let our lights shine, so that the world will see and praise our Father in Heaven!
